MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Affairs of Washington Grove Associntion Passed Upon.

ecial Correspondence of The Evening Star. WASHINGTON GROVE, Md., May 30, 1899. The annual stockholders' meeting of the Washington Grove Camp Meeting Association was held in the auditorium at this place at 10:30 a.m. today. The president, Dr. M. D. Peck, was in charge of the meet-

Pate and the calling of the roll the report of the president was read by the secretary. Mr. Carlton Hughes. It was shown that the affairs of the association were in a good condition. The improvement, such as painting the hotel, the preachers' lodge and the whiskey sold in competition with it, young people's hall, with the top dressing of stone, on Upper Grove avenue, have added materially to the attractiveness of the grounds. Further improvements, directed by the stockholders, include the raising of the tabernacle and the surfacing of the grounds surrounding it, together with the smaller avenues leading to the cir-le, with fine broken stone.

It was shewn in the report made by the secretary that the summer population was nearly six hundred, and the treasurer's re-port showed the receipts to be $1.714.78, with a balance in the treasury of $69.40. Of the minor affairs of the association the chairman of grounds reported sixty cords of fire wood had been cut, the wells cleaned and the pumps put in complete re-

The suditing committee reported that the eccount of the officers had been found to consideration damage having been done to cottages here, a resolution was adopted to the effect when cottage owners rent to improper persons such rental shall cease upon evidence of such improper tenantcy. The W. C. T. U. of Maryland has engaged the use of the grounds for its annual convention, from July 18 to 24, and the regular camp meeting will be held from August 19 and 19 a the head of unlucky Jimmy Slagle captured the crowds on the western trip with his great fielding.

A big crowd will doubtless turn out this afternoon to welcome the Senators home defeating the Senators by the score of 5 to 4. Reports from the smokey city say that Swartwood erred in giving a three-base hit to Leever in the last inning on a double into the crowd, which enabled the Pittsburgs to win, but that is one of the features of the game that all the clubs have to overcome. Brooklyn batsmen, almost to a man, stand close to the plate. This is one of the secrets of successful batting, especially when the batter is not afraid to meet the ball. None of Hanlon's men is troubled with the affliction, and consequently nearly all have good averages. In fact, it would be hard to find a weak hitter on the team. This season several of the Boston men not only stand away from the plate, but draw back when the ball is pitched. Hamilton, the champions heavy hitter, stands back, but invariably steps in to meet the ball. It is a significant fact that Selee's men have not been batting up to their past standard this The fielding of the Washington players was very good, but two errors being charged, one by Atherton and another by Slagle, while the Pirates had four mis-Stagle, while the Firates had four mis-plays chalked up against them. been batting up to their past standard this year.—Exchange. The rumors of a change in the manage-ment of the New York club continue. The day came in the ninth, when Pittsburg won out, owing to Leever's fine hit and a little lift from the umpire. The Pittsburg pitcher evidently decided that if he was to win his own game when he came to the bat in the ninth was the time to do it. He hit to right field for two bases, and as the ball went into the knot of spectators outside the ropes he was allowed three bases on the hit. Patsy Donovan then came to the bat, and without more ado plunked a safe hit into right field, and the necessary run to win crossed the plate.

The rumors of a change in the management of the New York cub continue. The stery now is that as soon as the New Yorks get settled after the trip just closed Mr. John B. Day will be deposed as manager and Jack Doyle appointed in his place. However, as these reports do not come from authentic sources they should not be given too much credence. Mr. Day has done as much as any man could do with the material he has on hand, and it seems a foolhardy move to make a change. done as much as any man could do with the material he has on hand, and it seems a foolhardy move to make a change. Greatest Feat in College Base Ball. From Outing for June. The Georgetown nine has accomplished

The Georgetown team simply had an off the greatest feat in the history of college base ball, having played every strong team in the east and Virginia and the south without a defeat, and, to double the assurance, played the Washington leaguers to a standstill. Phil King has figured prominently in the success of the team, but without excellent material even he could not have accomplished so much. With the exception of little Cranston, the catcher, he began his labors with a team who had played to-gether last season-men full of intelligence and ability, who have profited by experience as well as coaching, with the result of a perfectly working machine, without a sinpitchers; but the Georgetown boy's work was far superior, only six hits being made off his delivery to eight off Westervelt, and hitter, a fair base runner and good fielder. Left-handed White is a Washington High School boy. He uses a wonderful curved ball in a masterly way. Both Flemming and Walsh are from the Cambridge High School. Walsh is the hardest hitter, and was the big factor with the bat against Virginia. Hafford, on third, is another man who can hit hard, but his throwing is not as accurate as it was last year. Moran, at short, is fast, and the style with which he and Flemming toy with second base inspires confidence. Bach, by his steady work in the box, has led his team out of many a close place, and all without speed.

Junior Base Ball.

The New Hampshire Avenue Stars were defeated yesterday in a very one-sided game of ball by the Mount Pleasant Juniors, who outclassed their opponents in all points of the game. The score was 20 to 4. Saers' pitching and Altemus' brilliant fielding, with the good work of White, Mourning, Lee, Stier and Poole, were the features of the game.
